

HEART HAIKU

*Car Park Full, oh dear
Hubby drops me at the gates.
See the Doc alone...*

By Alip

*MY DOCTOR, SO DRY
WON'T BE WAITING ROOM BIBLE
BY JO*

All contributions submitted as comments on www.hearttales.co.uk
in response to a call-out for haiku.

*intimate dark room
doppler flashes, blues and reds
cold gel meets firm probe*
by timothyjohnson

School-dinner smells waft through echoed conversations at cloth-streaked tables.

By Laura

*Trip in ambulance
VT washes over me
Blues and twos switched on*

By Alip

By Margarita Saona

*The noises did it.
Alarms and beeps and cries: the sound of broken heart.*

By Alip

*Resus room beep beep round
Medics running beep beep
Beep beep heart still beats.*

The waiting room wait...

*I must watch the screen
Oh no, was that beep for me?
No, I am not June.*

By David Reynolds

*The waiting room is not going anywhere soon
whatever you say*

By Graham

*Where are the patients?
Have they been moved to the cloud?
Feel guilty sat here.*

By David Reynolds

*The waiting rooms near
My chair is shouting on me
Will I run away*

By Robbie Panton

Use these instructions by Drawn Poorly (drawnpoorly.wordpress.com) to help you assemble your zine. Depending on your printer, you may need to trim around the outside of your printed zine before you begin to fold. The dotted line in the middle of your printed zine shows you where to cut in step 5.

Mini zines are fun to make!

All you will need is:

- A piece of paper that can be folded into eight. (A4 paper works best)
- scissors
- a pen/pencil

You can also use other materials you have such as:

- newspapers, leaflets and magazines
- stickers
- felt tips & colouring pencils.

2.

Drawn Poorly

How to make A mini zine

1.

How to fold your zine

Folding zines takes practice. Try and fold as closely to the edges as possible.

Step 1. Fold the A4 piece of paper in half.

3.

Zines are all about having a go and sharing your ideas.

Make one for a pal, write your own short stories, fill it with pictures you like. Whatever you do, make it uniquely yours.

If you use this guide, we'd love to see, tag us at @drawnpoorlyzine on Instagram or Twitter

8.

Step 2. Fold the paper in half again.

Step 3. Unfold your paper, you should have eight rectangles like this 4.

Step 8. Then, hold your mini zine in both hands and push the paper towards the centre cut.

As you do this you'll see the pages push out, you might need to define the page creases to help.

Then... presto!

Your very own mega mini zine to put what ever you like in!

7.

Step 4. Fold the paper into two again like this

Step 5. Take your scissors. At the bottom of the top left folded rectangle, cut to the middle of the page.

5.

Step 6. Unfold your paper again. There will be a cut in the middle of your zine. This will help to make the pages

Step 7. Fold your paper the other way so that the cut is in the middle at the top 6.

Many thanks to collaborative zinesters extraordinaire DRAWN POORLY for sharing this fabulous resource!